

We Build Relationships in the Industrial and Commercial Construction and Engineering Industry!

In construction and engineering, every successful project requires good people – we provide premier people. Whether your company is growing and needs to build its internal talent pool, or you have a project with a staffing gap, we can provide the right staffing solution for you and your organization.

We have worked with a variety of companies from large owners, contractors, and subcontractors to growing vendors and suppliers, and can deliver high-quality candidates at the right time, at the right price. Our bespoke approach allows us to tailor the right staffing plan to meet your corporate goals and provide high-quality candidates so that you can focus on your businesses' bottom-line.

While we have recruited for numerous construction/engineering roles, we focus on the following positions:

- Project Managers
- Construction Managers
- Project Controls Resources
- Start-up Resources
- Construction Superintendents
- Project Engineers
- Safety Resources
- C-Suite and Executive Resources

The Bundled Advantage:

PRG is unique in its ability to deploy both project-based staffing resources and construction and engineering expert advisors – we call this approach “The Bundled Advantage.” Contact us today to see if The Bundled Advantage is the best option for your organization.

Global Industry Network and Personalized Service:

PRG has supported projects, programs, and initiatives, both domestically and internationally. And, given PRG's historic focus on the construction and engineering industry, we have developed a global network of top-tier which can be recruited and deployed to support your business.
